2. Agenda

a. Opening Remarks

-- Two briefings today. Per your agreement with [redacted] first item on published agenda has been moved to the Executive Session.

-- Forty minutes at end for Executive Session on [redacted] CY-79 Objectives, and Annual Report draft. [redacted]

b. Briefing on NFIB Working Group Effort on Security
Compartmentation - [redacted] Chairman

-- Call on Paul directly

-- Outline

o Background -- too many unmanageable compartments - Vogt study.

SECRET

SECRET

o New system (APEX) provides:

1. Single uniform control system for operational data, intelligence information and finished product,
2. Maximum dissemination at non-codeword levels, and
3. Compartments only that clearly warranting special protection.

o Graphic of system - four areas:

4. Selected product dissemination.

o Bottom Line

1. Single system rather than many.
2. Delimits number of operational clearance.
3. Controls and restricts product clearance on a strict need-to-know basis.
4. Makes available much more decompartmented intelligence, especially for tactical commanders.
